Natural Gas Struck at Gratton Coulee

Report says millions of feet blowing away

Rumors around town state that an enormous flow of natural gas has just been struck at Coulee, some eight to ten miles west of town, but at the time of writing no confirmation of this can be obtained.

The drillers have worked in the district during the past two years in an attempt to procure oil, of which there is all indications, and after several unsuccessful holes, seem according to reports, to have at last tapped the real thing.

We understand that those in charge of the venture are now endeavoring to interest the G.T.P. in the use of the gas, provided it continues in paying quantities, and if this should become an accomplished fact, there is every possibility of a pipe-line being run into town during the coming summer.

At the last report the gas was blowing from the top of the hole at a high pressure and several million cubic feet had passed into the atmosphere, after the attempt to cap the well had failed on account of the pressure.

INDIANS RECEIVE FEDERAL FRANCHISE

Announcement is made from Ottawa that the Indians of Canada are to be placed upon a basis of equality with all other citizens of the Dominion in that they will be given complete citizenship with the right to own property and to vote. Hitherto the Indians have all been treated more or less as children; have been guarded and protected, and on the other hand have been denied the right to vote. The announcement futher states that compulsory education will be introduced to better fit them for their new responsibilities.

PIGS SQUEAL IS NOT ONLY WASTE PACKERS CLAIM

The squeal is not the only thing which is lost when a pig becomes pork or pork products Tests at one of the packing plants in Canada, made within the past month, show that over 41 pounds, or about 22½ p.c. of the live weight of each pig bought on the farm is of no value to the packer.

The tests made with 4,185 hogs showed that out of a total live weight of 772,660, the average per hog being 184 lbs there was a loss in full of 166, 421lbs or 41.18 lbs waste on each animal slaughtered. Put in another form, 22½ cents, of every dollar paid for the live hog was for material which is waste.

There wee slaughtered at all Canadian inspected packing plants last year approximately 2,333,000 hogs, and a waste of 41 pounds per animal amounts to approximately 95,650,000 pounds — considerably more than the "squeal."

GETTING FULL VALUE OF THE FERTILIZER

Each ton of farm manure contains on an average 10 lbs. of nitrogen, 2 lbs of phosphorous and 8 lbs of potassium. The nitrogen present in each ton is sufficient to produce six bushels of grain, including the straw. The above amount of nitrogen, if purchased on the market at present prices would cost at least $3.00. Further argument for the proper care and handling of manure seems need less when we consider that we lose about one-half of the nitrogen and two-thirds of the organic matter during the first 3 or 4 months that farm manure is exposed. It is very important that the manure be handled such a way as to lose as little as possible. The best plan is to scatter it over the land as soon as it is produced. If the fertility is leached out then it goes into the soil, and if the manure remains dry there is essentially no loss. The farm should be managed, if possible so that there will always be a place to which to haul manure. It is well to remember that the greatest loss is due to fermentation and leaching. The loss of nitrogen and organic matter is due primarily to fermentation which in turn demands free circulation of air, and to retard this destructive process all manure which for the time being must be left in piles has to be compacted to get the best returns from its use. This is done by allowing the stock to tramp it in the stall or by keeping it sufficiently wet to exclude air without causing leaching. The greatest loss is due to leaching, but this may be reduced by the use of sufficient bedding to act as absorbent and also by preventing the rainfall or the run-off water from the rofs from falling on the manure.

Despite the severe storm on Sunday last quite a large number of sympathising friends met the train from Edmonton which brought to her former parental home the mortal remains of Miss Christina Ward, who passed away at the South Hall hospital in the city on Thursday last after a short illness.

Money Prizes in Road Competition

Entries for the event will close on June 1st

A sum of something aproaching twelve thousand dollars is to be paid out by the public works department of the province of Alberta as prizes for good roads provided that there are enough contestants to call for the full amount of prizes offered. Councils of organised rural municipalities, automobile clubs and good roads associations are eligible, and entries will be accepted up to the fist day of June next.

The judging will be done on tretches of road from four to eight miles in length, and once these have been entered in the contest they will be inspected occasionally during the season The lines upon which the contest will be conducted being the nature of the soil, improvement in general, grade conditions, freedom from weeds, condition of ditches, amount of traffic and such like. The competing roads have to be dragged during the season and kept in order.

Five prizes of from $100 to $300 each are offered to competing districts and after the regular prizes have been awarded the roads of the first prize-winners will again be inspected and three grand prizes of $500, $300 and $200 respectively will be given to the competitors finally adudged to be the best on the list.

HAIL INSURANCE BD. FIGURES ARE OF INTEREST

The financial statement of the Hail Insurance Board has just been published and the report shows that notwithstanding the fact that crop conditions in some parts of the province were rather bad about the time that hail insurance is generally placed, a large volume of business was done and that very satisfactory results were obtained; a good financial showing being made at the end of the year's business.

The hail insurance district comprises the 67 municipal districts that voted in favor of the Act in February, 1919, and the total acreage in crop last year in this area is estimated a about 3, 750,000 acres, of this amount 1, 609,314 acres being insured against hail throughout the season. The total amount of hail insurance carried was about $12,290,000, the maximum rate on this being 45c per acre for insurance at $8.00 and 36c. for insurance at $6.00 per acre.

There were approximatey 2,000 claims for loss during the season, covering hail damage to nearly 200,000 acres with a total claim of $503,957.78 and an average of about $250, and the board believes it ha established a record for prompt adjustment of claims there being not a single claim outstanding at the end of the year. The average timefor inspection and adjustment was 23 days after the storm had worked the destruction. It is beieved that benefiting with the year's experience and a better working knowledge of the Act on the part of claimants this record will be surpassed during the coming season.

BIG DOG DERBY STARTED TUESDAY

The 1920 Hudson Bay dog derby started at 10.30 p.m. at The Pas, Man. yesterday, with a searchlight and huge bonfires lighting up the trail on the banks of the Saskatchewan river. A field of 21 entries comprised the finest bunch of huskies obtainable in the north. It is a non-stop race of 100 miles and the various teams are all trained to sprint from the very start. The trails are reported to be heavy and drifted in spots, and the race executive sent out teams on Monday to break parts of the road which the contestants will travel.

Dr Lockwood, dentist, will not be in attendance at his office until further notice, having been called east on account of the severe illness of his mother. 17-3c

PRODUCTION IS PROFITEERING CURE

It seems to us that all this cry about "profiteering" is an effort to shirt the blame of high prices to the other fellow's shoulders. High price is not "profiteering." We are all after the dollar. Is the workman who takes advantage of a shortage of labor, or the farmer who holds his hay at a high price because he knows there is a shortage, a "profiteer"? It seems to us that the word is a misnomer as generally applied; who does not get all he possibly can out of a bargain? Profit is, has been, and always will be the chief incentive to industry. The whole business is one of supply and demand, and production is the only cure for the "high cost of living" and "profiteering".

Will free trade in foodstuffs—a better market for our own products—cheapen the high cost of living? In other food prices over the border are high enough to drain Canada of its foodstuffs, could we expect to get lower prices on what we import from there? Under the present conditions American to erect factories for farm implements and automobiles in Canada, and thus give employment to our people. Remove the tariff and American manufacturers will cease manufacturing in Canada, compelling our workmen to cross the line for employment. Which looks the most like keeping up the high cost of living—producing here, or producing in the State and consuming here?

A QUESTION OF NATURALISATION.

A letter forwarded to us complains that it is unfair that the Dominion naturalisation law requires that a person must have resided in this or some other British dominion for five years before being entitled to naturalisation papers and full citizen's rights.

The writer of the complaint happens to be a citizen of the United States, resident in this country for the past three and a-quarter year, and it seems unfair to him that, speaking our language, and being in every sense, but nationality, one of ourselves, he should be debarred citizenship short of a five-year residence with us.

His case, or that of any other United States citizen desiring to become a loyal subject of King George by naturalisation does seem at first glance to be a bit hard under our new law, and if it were possible to make some distinction in the law between such prospective citizens and those who come from some of the European countries, with their foreign tongues, customs and manners, it would be a nice thing to do. But it is doubtful if this could be done.

The Naturalisation Act of 1914 was framed with the object of bringing the Canadian procedure into conformity with that of Britain and the other overseas dominions with respect to that time the Canadian practice to naturalisation. Up to that time was to grant naturalisation on the evidence of three years' residence, but Canadian naturalisation then did not mean anything outside Canada so far as British citizenship was concerned. By agreement the five-year term was substituted, any portion of which can apply to residence in any part of the British Empire. With this five-year records man becomes naturalised not only as a full-rights Canadian citizen but a British Empire citizen as well.

No doubt the five-year delay is annoying to men who before they landed in Canada knew and understood quite as much about our political, economic, and social problems as we do ourselves, but, outside the fact that they are denied voting rights other than purely local they do not really suffer, and when the five-year term has passed they will have the added gratification of knowing that their naturalisation means much moer than it otherwise would.

THE FARMERS' WIFE'S SIDELINE

It is largely on the farmers' flocks of poultry that Canada must depend for her poultry products, but owing to the high cost and increasing scarcity of feeds many farmers are questioning the profitableness of this branch of farming. One means of increasing the return from the flocks is to increase returns from winter egg production. Every flock requires at least some feed and labor, and if a little more feed and a little more attention will give a marketable supply of winter eggs it will be well worth the while.

Another means of increasing the supply of winter eggs is that of replacing hens with early hatched pullets. In an experiment at the government experimental station it was found that only 9 out of 25 one-year old hens laid over one hundred eggs in a year, and no single hen reached the 150 egg mark, while the April-hatched pullets in the following month of January laid an average of 18 eggs per bird. The hens had an average of 2.8 per bird during the same month. In addition to being early hatched, pullets to lay well must be well bred, well fed and comfortably housed. For the average farm flock the cheapest method to secure a good laying strain is to procure male birds that have been improved along this line, particularly with regard to the laying qualities of the breed chosen.

EVERYBODY CURRANTS FOR

During the past four years tests have been caried out by the horticultural department of the University of Alberta to determine the varieties of the currant bush suitable for conditions in this province. These tests have demonstrated that red, white or black currants can all be grown sucessfully under certain conditions. Some natural shelter in the form of bluffs must be chosen or artificial shelter such as rows of trees, shrubs, or even sunflowers provided to proect the currant bushes. In addition, the plants should be mulched each fall, to hold them back from blooming too early in the following spring and thus suffering from late frosts. In towns and villages, a few bushes of either the native wild currants transplanted, or of the well nown purchased from some nurseryman, planted at a distance of four feet along the fences or buildings, will provide all the currants a family will require, and little or no trouble will be necessary. The currant is a native of Alberta, and there is no reason why each family should not furnish an abundant supply of this delicious fruit.

Something entirely new is being arranged to take place at the Elite Theatre in aid of the St.Luke's B.C. church tonight the "17th of Ireland" in the form of a box social and card party. See the advt. on another page.

If Four Men Came To You

And the first one said—
"I am getting more mileage than I ever dreamed of out of my tires."

And the second said—
"My tires are guaranteed puncture proof."

And the third said—
"My tires are 20 p.c. oversize."

And the fourth—
"My tires cost only ½ as much as yours."
And when you asked them what tires they used, each answered "Gates Half-Sole Tires"— wouldn't you, too, want to know more about this new principle of tire construction that more than 1,000,000 motorists are using to cut their tire costs?

How, perhaps, through this new factory built process you can make the tires now on your car last for many, many more of those pleasure trips; how you can add from 5,000 to 15,000 more miles to the life of your worn casings.

MAYFIELD NEWS

MAYFIELD LITERARY CLUB

This organisation held its usual weekly meeting on Wednesday last with a large attendance on hand. Eleven more new members were enrolled, and Mr Dawson gave a talk on his experiences in organising similar institutions to this one. Mrs Dawson was also present, and we are hoping to see them both back again with us at a lot of future gatherings.

The programme arranged for our meeting on the 24th promises to be a real musical treat, and should not be missed by the members.

At the close of the literary club meeting a ratepayers' meeting was held, and after debating for about two hours whether or not a piano should be purchased, it was finally decided in the affirmative.

We have been used to big crowds at nearly all our functions; guess we won't be able to seat them now that we have a "music-box."

Ajolly sleigh-load of Mayfielders journeyed to Gilt Edge school to take in the U.F.A. meeting there last week.

When it comes down to fighting out real facts, leave it to Comrade E. O. Garneu.

A. J. Muddle took great pleasure in delivering the new piano to the schoolhouse last Saturday. We hear that John worked for hours on the 'moon li thoganssa'tA xfflz fi? (light sonata' with only the cat for company.

Lee Sullivan is busy hauling feed these days. He also makes a practice of upsetting a couple of times on each trip. Too bad, Lee!

John Muddle has been advised by his neighbors to get acquainted with the rag and junk colectors.

HAPPENINGS OF LOCAL INTEREST

J. C. Bowen, who has been spending the winter months in travelling through different parts of California, returned home on Monday, and from the way he tells it he is so enamoured with the country and climate there that he figures to return there for good next fall.

Children's rompers and dresses, from 6 months to 16 years, made from gingham, print, galatea, etc. See these at Fraser and Co. 17-3c

The teachers of the province will gather in Calgary on the [illegible] and 8th of April for the Alberta Educational Convention.

Arthur Terry took a couple of days off for a short visit to the city.

Geo. Wilbraham, who recently sold out his holdings at Irma, left Calgary on Friday last for a trip to his old home in England.

Sunday's blizzard was surely a return of winter conditions. More like old Ontario than Sunny Alberta, but the extra moisture is acceptable even at that. Some nine inches of snow was deposited.

Miss Edith Bowen is home from Edmonton for a short stay at the parental home.

If you desire to have a real good time, take in the box social and card party at the theatre this evening. The admission is free, and ladies are all asked to bring a box containing a lunch for two persons, with the name of the donor enclosed therein.

Included in the Bean sale on Tuesday next will be two pure-bred Durham bulls, aged 3 and 7 years respectively. These animals are both registered and the papers will pass to the new owners after the sale.

The Wainwright orchestra has been engaged for the big "17th of Ireland" doings at Viking tonight. Their fame is spread abroad!

Bill Blinn was busy on Saturday re-locating the old City Laundry building from Third avenue to Main street. We believe that after being renovated it will be occupied as a shoe repair depot.

Fred Pawling was taken to the city on Friday last to undergo hospital treatment there We wish him a speedy and complete recovery.

W. C. Montgomery, of Delorraine, Man., is trying to persuade the Dominion government to sell him some buffalo from our park, in order that he may produce cattalo on his big ranch at Spirit River. He tells us that this proposition has a great future.

We learn that Mrs J. Welch, who has been on the sick list during the week has now recovered.

Mr and Mrs Creighton are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Ray Greer, and we understand it is their intention to return to the joys of farming in this district.

The telephone linemen are busily preparing the material for the rural work in this district as soon as the weather is favorable.

Miss Grace Ward was up to the city for a trip last week.

The high school Literary Society wishes to publicly thank the donors of prizes, the judges, and the members of the band who assisted in making the recent carnival such a success.

The "roarin'" game is now over for this season, and no doubt the garden hoe and rake will soon be plied just as vigorously by the recent workers with the broom.

If the country editor snapped up all the inducements he is given he should soon be a millionaire. If he ran the paper according to some people's notions he would soon be in a poor-house. If he published all the items that are sent to him he would be in jail about one half of his time and in the hospital for the remainder. We would soon just as soon be any thing else, but we confess that our business is running a news paper, so that's the only business we attempt to run.

The time is fast approaching when our citizens must be in shape to think of the backyards. The accumulation of rubbish over the winter is an eyesore, and for the sake of the health of the community and the beauty of the town it should be removed at the earliest opportunity. Clear up, clean up!

The junior hockeyists who journeyed to Viking on Friday on account of the changed rinks and other conditions, met defeat at the hands of the boys evening's game eft them on the short end of an 8-0 score, while the Saturday morning play ended in a draw of 2—2. E. N. Frickerton chaperoned the youngsters.

Bob Kenny and his son Annesley were visitors to town for the week end, returning to the city on Monday.
